ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LIBRARIAN

The Book Circulation increased slightly this past year although there was an equally slight decrease in the number of borrowers. Our young people remain our largest group of customers and have made good use of the books of biography, travel, science, nature, etc., that we have purchased this year. We wish to thank our friends for their generous gifts of books to the Library. Our book funds are limited and these gift books greatly help toward the number of new books we can offer during the year and still leave money to replace old and worn out editions. The Librarian attended a national library convention at Montreal and several state meetings and the chairman of the Board of Trustees attended the state-wide Trustees' meeting in Concord.

The Library has been used by several groups for civic meetings, etc. Quite a number of current magazines are now available for loan from the Library and if sufficient interest is shown similar loan privileges might be arranged for pictures and records. I believe that our Library is unusually fortunate in having Mrs. Tarney, Miss Eastman and Mrs. Cattabriga as library assistants. All three are deeply interested in their work both with adults and young people and the school experience of the first two adds greatly to their ability to serve the young people's needs. The historical collection continues to grow and we are most grateful to those who remember to give us old issues of the Advocate, town reports, entertainment programs, pictures, etc.; the Librarian will be glad to show the collection to any one interested at any time. It would seem to the Librarian that it would be a wonderful thing if when a new addition to the school was built, that the library might be moved to the school where the books would be available to them throughout school hours. The present library rooms would then make a fine historical museum with plenty of room to display the many interesting items we have acquired. We are always appreciative of suggestions of ways by which we might improve the library services.

Respectfully submitted,
 NELLIE L. PIERCE,
 Librarian.

FOREST FIRE REPORT

Forest fires in the state were of a very serious nature and very expensive in the Summer of 1953; although Enfield had only two for a total expenditure of $312.43.

The Grantham fire was well supported by Enfield volunteers and the expense involved from this town totaled $8,194.18.

The State as of January 1 1954 has paid back $3,-414.71 and as soon as the Federal Government allots to the State their assistance, the town of Enfield will be reimbursed for their share of fire fighting expenditure or $5,122.06.

Forest fire permits of over 300 were issued during 1953 and no losses due to carelessness of our people, lightning being the origin of the fires of the town.

The Summer of 1954 could be another serious fire year so do not forget to obtain a permit, or to notify the Warden each time you desire to burn.

Respectfully submitted,

CLARENCE E. ARNOLD,

Forest Fire Warden.

HEALTH DEPARTMENT REPORT FOR 1953

7 Water tests

29 Investigations

3 Communicable diseases reported

Enfield had some little trouble with its public water supply in 1953 but that difficulty was overcome by its water commissioner, Eugene King; but taking it as a whole, our water tests have been very good for the year 1953.

The dump has functioned very well for year of 1953 and I take this time in thanking the people for their cooperation they have given us in not making the dump an unsightly place. We hope in 1954 this will be continued.

R. J. BRUCE, Health Officer.

REPORT OF PLAYGROUND COMMITTEE

January 1, to December 31, 1953

The Enfield playground program was carried on for seven weeks with approximately 50-70 children attending daily. The playground was under the supervision of Mr. George Sullivan, of Canaan, N. H. He was assisted by the Misses Inge Wolff and Carol Catabrige.

A bus was hired to transport children from Enfield Center but this was discontinued after a week as only one child was being transported.

Swimming classes were held at Crescent Beach through kindness of Mr. George Alafat. Bus transportation was provided for the swimming.

Two baseball teams were sponsored and money from the games was placed in the general fund. At the close of the season, nine uniforms were purchased for the Junior team. League officials require uniforms for the teams, and to date the Enfield boys were the only ones without uniforms.

Extensive work was done on the tennis court. Due to the extremely dry weather, it was impossible to get the court in playing condition before the close of the program. There is a little more work to be done on the court, but once restored to good condition, this court can be maintained at very little cost.

At the close of the program, a field day was held at Huse Park. Awards for the various activities were presented and an exhibit of craft work was displayed.

The committee recommends the completion of the tennis court, continuation of the swimming and baseball programs and an extended craft program.

The committee wishes to thank the Precinct and the Civic Association for gifts which made the work on the tennis court and the purchase of uniforms possible.

Respectfully submitted,
BETTY CATTABRIGA, Chairman.

Superintendent's Report

I hereby submit my sixth annual report as your Superintendent of Schools:

Year in and year out one of the greatest concerns of the citizens of any of our New Hampshire towns is the school system. And this is rightly so. Parents of children are concerned because they want to be sure that their children receive the best education possible within the limits of the town's ability to pay. The taxpayers are concerned about the rising cost of schools (as is true of nearly everything else) as this is reflected in increased tax bills. Alumni are concerned because they want to have the school maintain the same high "standards" that it did in the past. Pupils are concerned because they want to enjoy school and get out of it the things they will need for future living. It, therefore, becomes the complex job of your School Board to combine all these various concerns and produce the best possible schools within the confines of a limited and reasonable budget. The town of Enfield is fortunate in having a School Board that is truly interested in the affairs of its schools and at the same time is conscious of the heavy drain being placed upon the homeowner and taxpayer. It has been a real pleasure to work with your School Board when they display such enthusiasm for their task and such an understanding of the problems involved. However, they can at best make only partial solutions or compromises with the funds available. No real solution will be made until the state provides a more adequate form of state aid to the poorer towns.

For many, many years the School District of Enfield has been struggling with the manner in which they could solve the problem of adequate space for both the elementary school and the high school. Committee after committee has been formed. These committees have made careful studies and surveys and then reported to the school district. Up until now, at least, nothing has been done about these reports. They have investigated the possibility of a cooperative school district; closing the high school and sending the pupils to Lebanon; and various and sundry additions to the present plant which would provide the minimum needs for a good school situation. For the past year another committee has been working under the direction of Chairman Chaloux and hopes to have yet another solution to present to the voters at the annual school district meeting in March.

Our problem of increased enrollment really hit us where it hurt this year. There is such a variation in the enrollment at Enfield, due to the movement of people in and out of town, that it is next to impossible to make accurate predictions or even to properly prepare for just one year in advance. Although we anticipated an enrollment of about 40 pupils in Grade I this fall we actually had 48. There were several possible solutions to this situation among which were (1) do nothing and have one teacher take care of the group (2) split the first grade into two groups and run them in two sessions (3) find space, equip another room and hire another full-time teacher (4) run all 48 pupils as a unit and engage a teacher's helper to assist with the program. If we had followed out the first of these suggestions the teacher would have faced an impossible situation and the pupils would have learned very little because they could receive no individual attention. The second suggestion has been tried in Enfield and other towns with very poor results—furthermore; by regulation of the State Board of Education it would have required hiring another full-time qualified teacher. We had no funds to carry out the third suggestion which would have been the most expensive of the four solutions. We, therefore, decided upon the fourth solution. We, therefore, decided upon the fourth solution. Although there were several people who doubted the correctness of our decision in the first few weeks of school I think most everyone agrees that things are now working out quite well.

For next year, starting in September 1954, it seems that some other solution will have to be made. Most of the present 48 pupils in Grade I will be moved to Grade II. At least 35 pupils are expected in Grade I in September 1954. The only adequate solution seems to be in finding an additional room for these extra pupils and engaging an additional teacher to take care of them. For this extra room we would take some pupils from Grade I and some pupils from Grade II thus averaging out the numbers in any one room. The total (35 and 48) divided by three would allow for about 28 pupils in each room. This number, 28, is more than we would like for primary grades in an ideal situation but is far better than trying to teach either 35 or 48 in one room by one teacher. Furthermore, our census, taken in the fall of 1953, indicates that we will have between 35 and 37 pupils entering Grade I for the next four years. As these entering pupils gradually move up through the grades it is obvious that we will need another room to accommodate the overflow from two more large grades.

The enrollment at the high school is slowly advancing and may be 98 or more within a few years. Even now we need another room at the high school and an additional teacher if we plan to operate a really adequate program. This need will be all the more evident as the enrollment at the high school increases.

PERSONNEL

For many of the past few years we have lost a majority of our high school teachers each year and have had to replace them with new teachers. Our elementary teaching stay has been more stable because many of them are local teachers. Of the five teachers who left last year (out of a total of 14) three obtained better positions with larger salaries, and one was married and one married woman was about to become a mother. Everyone realizes that this constant change of teachers is not good for the pupils or for the continuity of the total school program. For years we have been hearing about the shortage of teachers and the necessity of raising salaries. Actually the supply of teachers is diminishing as the demand for them increases. Thus if we throw aside all arguments in relation to increased teacher salaries except the one in regard to the old economic law of supply and demand it becomes evident that we should increase teachers' salaries in order that we remain in a bargaining position for the few good teachers who are available at any given time. I am, therefore, recommending to the School Board that the salary schedule be increased by $100.00 for the school year 1954-55. This will place the minimum for a beginning teacher without experience at $2600.00. This is about the salary that most small towns will be offering but will be far below the larger places in New Hampshire where they will start beginning teachers at $2700.00 to $2900.00.

Last year it was often necessary to contact as many as twenty or more colleges and placement agencies in order to find just one candidate for a particular position who would work for the salaries which we were able to offer. Nevertheless I think we can feel very fortunate that all of our new teachers are good teachers and several of them are outstanding.

Miss Susie Eastman plans to retire from teaching when schools close in June after having taught in the Enfield Schools for thirty-six years and in the State of New Hampshire for forty-eight years. She is one of the finest, nicest persons I have ever known. Her whole life has been devoted to children and their development. Through the years she has kept abreast of modern education by taking special summer school courses, extension courses and by reading current material on educational methods and procedure. Miss Eastman really loves children and has a personal interest in each individual pupil. Although we will miss her from the staff we feel that she has earned a well-deserved retirement and we want to wish her many years of happy, enjoyable and interesting living with her friends and neighbors in Enfield.

SCHOOL PROGRAM

We are now using the Zaner Bloser handwriting system in grades one through eight. This serves to provide a continuity and conformity to the handwriting which is being taught and we have already seen a general improvement in the school handwriting. This improvement should be greater in years to come as the total effect begins to accumulate.

Mrs. Jane MacGinnis from Orford is teaching art and vocal music to grades one through eight and special groups in the high school. She has an excellent background for both of these fields and is providing an atmosphere in which the pupils really enjoy these cultural subjects. Gustave Foret, from Hanover, is teaching instrumental music and assists Norman Provost in this work with the band. Both of these programs are operating with great enthusiasm and interest.

The Enfield schools are now full fledged members of the New England School Development Council. This is an organization of school systems in selected areas throughout New England. The main offices are at Cambridge but a sub-center has been established for the past several years at Dartmouth College. Besides having available all the research reports of the parent organization, such as a review of salaries in New England made this fall, the teachers participate in the programs put on at Dartmouth College. This year they are working on problems of reading for Mathematics and Science Teachers, problems involved in the "troubled child" and a review of some of the most recent research in reading in the elementary school.

During the last session of the New Hampshire legislature a bill was passed permitting schools to offer a non-credit course in the care and handling of firearms. Following out this idea a Rifle Club has been organized under the direction of Mark Rines.

Due to the fact that Whitney Hall is no longer available for basketball, this sport has been dropped from the list of high school activities. Some pupils and teachers were very much interested in continuing basketball and a complete search of the area was made to find a suitable hall in which to play. The one or two which were found were too expensive or too far away to use. It is unfortunate that this sport had to be dropped because, needing only five players, it is well suited to be played by small high schools. Nearly every high school in New Hampshire has a basketball team. Skiing has been instituted as a substitute activity. The lack of snow in the early part of the winter delayed the beginning of practice until the early part of January.

The state director for Civilian Defense has asked that all schools plan and carry out air raid drills. The School Board and I felt that this would create undue alarm on the part of both pupils and parents. However, we do plan to prepare a mode of operation for air raids in connection with suggestions from the town director of civilian defense. This plan would be explained to the teachers but not to the pupils.

We are continuing with our previous program of having a few teachers each year meet with the School Board to explain each teacher's program in the school. The School Board also is continuing its program of holding an open meeting early in October so that citizens and parents can come in to discuss special items which they wish to have added or deleted from the budget.

GENERAL

As usual it has been necessary to spend a considerable amount of money on repairs in order to maintain the buildings and grounds in proper condition. A dry well was put in and the new drainage system was completed; a lot of fill was brought in to level up the school yard; the brick work around the lower part of the building was pointed up and repaired; new eaves spouts were put in all around the edge of the roof; a new floor was put in the lower hallway; the commercial room was revamped; and by employing a young man to help Mr. Shurtleff we were able to do quite a large amount of painting which was necessitated by the fact that many rooms had become badly discolored from the leak we had in the chimney last year.

Our P-TA has continued its enthusiastic and helpful program. Due to their efforts the World Insurance accident insurance was made available to the pupils. The programs of the P-TA and their loyal support have been of tremendous assistance to the school program.

A new school law was passed by the last legislature making it compulsory for all children, living in towns which maintain a high school, to attend school until they reach the age of sixteen. This does not affect too many pupils in Enfield because most of them continue on to complete high school at which time they are over 16 years of age.

The legislature also granted funds to increase the number of Supervisory Unions in the state. Under the direction of the Commissioner of Education a plan for a new Supervisory Union was suggested which would include Enfield, Canaan, Dorchester and several of the nearby small towns. The idea was dropped when a protest was received from some of the towns involved.

Mason Ingram resigned from his position as a member of the Enfield School Board when he moved to Norwich last summer. He served loyally and faithfully on the School Board for many years and his resignation was received with sincere regret. However, the people of Enfield can feel very grateful that such a capable, experienced and interested person as the Reverend Herbert Foote was willing to complete this unexpired term.

In conclusion I would like to thank all those, parents, teachers, custodians, members of the P-TA, the School Board, pupils and others, who have helped in producing good schools for Enfield.

Respectfully submitted,
HOWARD F. MASON,
Superintendent of Schools.
